(1) In the interests of ensuring the greatest degree of devolution of decision-making functions consistent with good administration, the Commission shall-

(a) ensure that the functions vested in it by or under this Act are delegated to the staff of the Commission or persons in the Public Service, whether such persons are employed in the Ministry for which the Minister is responsible or otherwise; and [Paragraph (a) substituted by section 8 of Act 16 of 2001 with effect from 29 June 2001.]

(b) take whatever steps are necessary to encourage the greatest possible delegation of decision-making functions within all Ministries, departments and other divisions of the Public Service.

(2) A delegation of a function by the Commission in terms of paragraph (a) of subsection (1)-

- (a) may be made absolutely or subject to conditions; and
- (b) may be amended or revoked at any time; and
- (c) shall not preclude the Commission from exercising the function so delegated.

(3) A person to whom the Commission has delegated a function in terms of paragraph (a) of subsection (1) may, with the consent of the Commission, further delegate the function, either absolutely or subject to conditions, to any member of the Public Service who is under his control or authority.

(4) Where the Commission has delegated a function in terms of paragraph (a) of subsection (1) to any person, any conditions or limitations applicable to the exercise of that function by the Commission shall apply, mutatis mutandis, to the exercise of the function by the person to whom it has been delegated.

(5) Where a person has been or is about to be appointed to the Public Service or promoted within the Public Service pursuant to a power delegated by the Commission in terms of paragraph (a) of subsection (1), and the Commission considers that-

- (a) the person does not have the qualifications or ability necessary to carry out the duties of the position he occupies or would occupy, as the case may be; or
  - (b) his appointment or promotion has contravened or would contravene, as the case may be, any condition under which the power was delegated;
- the Commission shall revoke the appointment or promotion or direct that the appointment or promotion shall not be made, as the case may be, and may take such other action in the matter as the Commission thinks necessary:

Provided that-

- (i) before taking any action in terms of this subsection, the Commission shall give the person whose appointment or promotion is in issue and the person who appointed or promoted him or proposed to appoint or promote him, an adequate opportunity to make representations in the matter;
- (ii) where a person has been appointed or promoted and the Commission is satisfied that the appointment or promotion was not effected as a result of any fraud or wilful misrepresentation on his part, the Commission need not revoke the appointment or promotion, as the case may be.

(6) This section shall not be construed as limiting any power which the Commission or any other person may have under any other law to delegate functions to another person.
